POISON IN CLOTHING.

Englishmen Frightened by What They Wear. From the London Mail.

Bright colors are very fashionable now, happily for the spirits of those whose lot in life it is to inhabit cities as gloomy as London or Manchester in December, and the smartest are those known as fadists or bonbon shades, pretty blues, soft pinks, delicate purples and military reds. The strids chemistry has achieved during the past few decades make the production of such colors easy and their cost inexpensive, but unfortunately it also makes adulteration easy, too, and the use of poisonous dyes is becoming all too common.

Aniline is very extensively used, and very little harm has been traced to fabrics so colored, while chrome yellow containing lead, greens containing arsenic, and blues containing mercuric oxide, have been proved distinctly deleterious. Aniline is largely used in coloring wall papers and window curtains with out bad effect, but a curious case has just been made public by the French Academie de Medecin relating to the injurious effects of aniline oil, which is used in yellow-brown boot paste. Two children wearing these polished boots were poisoned, and the evil was traced to the oil in the paste, which had gradually soaked through the leather.

Unluckily, there is no ready way of discriminating between dyes that are harmful and dyes that are not. Experience and consequences alone are a guarantee of their innocuous or baneful influences. Those who do not know how to select or who do not know how to care for their clothing, are in a very bad way. They may thread easily through the needle's eye, for to those foolish, though excusable, habits cases of arsenical poison have been traced.

In these days of abrasions or sores of any kind upon the limbs—for example, upon the shins or ankles—dyed hose should never be worn unless the broken skin is protected. Scarlet socks, however expensive, should never be worn until they are thoroughly washed. All the clever chiroprists, after cutting a corn or treating it with an acid, protect the place by means of plaster or lint before the patient puts his socks on again. Clothes, dresses and mantles should be washed. All the clever chiroprists, after cutting a corn or treating it with an acid, protect the place by means of plaster or lint before the patient puts his socks on again.

UP MONT BLANC BY RAIL. Electric Road Projected to Scale the Summit of the Famous Peak. From the London Daily Mail.

The construction of a railroad to the summit of Mont Blanc, similar in all respects to the Jungfrau line, is under consideration. The project is as follows: Place a piece of cloth half an inch square on a saucer, plate, or in a porcelain basin, and drop two or three ounces of strong nitric acid on it. If pure indigo is present, a bright yellow spot with a green rim is quickly developed.

ABOUT HYDRANTS. The light and water committee presented a resolution directing the chief of the fire department to notify the Scranton Gas and Water company that the city would hold it responsible for all damages caused by a broken fire hydrant after notice had been served upon it, and further directing the chief of the fire department to notify the company when any broken hydrant is discovered. The resolution was adopted.

DON'T WANT RIPPER BILL

SELECT COUNCIL IS OPPOSED TO ITS PASSAGE.

A Resolution Adopted Last Night Declaring Opposition to the Bill and Favoring the Passage of the Act Amending Present Second Class City Act—Mr. Oliver Wants to Know if the Mayor Has Paid Up Gas Franchise Ordinance Introduced—New Business.

The select council last night put itself on record as being opposed to the "ripper" bill now pending in the legislature. A resolution setting forth this opposition was presented by the second class city legislation committee and was adopted unanimously.

The resolution was accompanied by a brief report, setting forth what the committee had accomplished in Harrisburg. The report went on to say that Scranton was now in a position to secure legislation favorable to its interests, including provision for the removal of the mayor; that the amendatory act agreed upon by the representatives from the city of Scranton and the city of Harrisburg, and introduced by Senator Anglin, is approved in its entirety, as being the necessary and appropriate legislation to meet the requirements of our city; that Senator Vaughan is desiring of the select council to secure legislation favorable to our city; that the members of the house of representatives from this section are also desiring of the select council to look after the interests of our city when the matter comes up in their branch of the legislature; that certified copies of this resolution duly authenticated by the city clerk be transmitted to our senator and representative.

OLIVER'S RESOLUTION. Mr. Oliver created a mild sensation during the meeting by introducing a resolution directing the city controller to immediately furnish councils with a statement of Mayor Moir's payment of fines to the city treasurer by months from July 1 to the present time. The resolution was unanimously adopted.

MANY CASES WERE HEARD

TWO WOMEN SHOPLIFTERS WILL GO TO JAIL.

One Was Convicted of Taking Goods from Store of Jonas Long's Sons and the Other Pleaded Guilty to a Charge of Stealing Goods from the Globe Warehouse—Osgood and His Mother-in-Law Had Trouble—Grass on Trial Before Judge Purdy for Receiving Stolen Goods.

An application was made yesterday for bills of particulars in the case against Aldermen John Lentos and John P. Kelly, who are charged with illegally drawing fees from the county, but it was denied.

TODAY MAY CLOSE STRIKE

IMPORTANT CRISIS WILL BE REACHED AT MILLS.

Sauquoit Mill Girls Will Receive Their Pay and Have Talks with Superintendent Davis.

The silk mill strike situation remains practically the same as during the first part of the week. At all the mills where the strike has been declared the girls are still out and the prospects of their going back seem remote. At the Bliss mill in Dunmore, the hands are still at work, and Reiling, David & Schoen's Petersburg plant is also being still operated.

Superintendent Bachoben, of the last-named mill, yesterday said that as yet he has been waited upon by no committee and that no trouble is anticipated with the hands. The wage scale drawn up by the strikers' committee and presented at all the other mills, has not been so far demanded from the working people.

Today's developments are being awaited with interest by all connected in any way with the strikers. It is the Sauquoit mill's pay day, and after holding a meeting in Carpenter's hall, the big mill's striking hands will present themselves at the mill and receive their month's pay, superintendent Davis will address them, and it is thought that some attempt at a compromise will be made.

If there is, and the Sauquoit girls decide to return to work, then the strike is over, for this mill's employees are the backbone of the movement. Any offer made by the Sauquoit people, moreover, will be acquiesced in by the other mill owners.

brother of Mrs. Yost. According to the story told by the police, Mrs. Hamill went into Hoffman's store to make a purchase. Mrs. Hoffman, the wife of the grocer, was behind the counter, and she deducted from the money tendered in payment the sum of thirty-five cents, which she claimed was owed by Mrs. Yost.

Mrs. Hamill objected to paying her sister-in-law's alleged bill, but Mrs. Hoffman refused to return the money. Mrs. Hamill then returned home and informed her husband of what had taken place. Hamill went to the store and demanded the thirty-five cents. It is alleged that upon Mrs. Hoffman's refusal to pay the money, Hamill broke furnishings and threw a scale at Mrs. Hoffman. Yost also soon arrived on the scene. Hoffman was called by his wife and ran into the store from a rear room, carrying in his hand a cheese knife, with which he had been cutting bacon. A fight ensued between the three men. The grocer made an effort to get Hamill and Yost to leave the place, but they refused.

In the struggle Yost was stabbed just over the heart.
